

WHO'S UP? WHO'S DOWN?

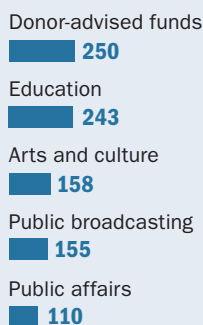

REGULARS IN THE RANKS

We broke charities down by category, then determined which type of group over the past 25 years had claimed the most spots on the Philanthropy 400—and the fewest.

TOP 5

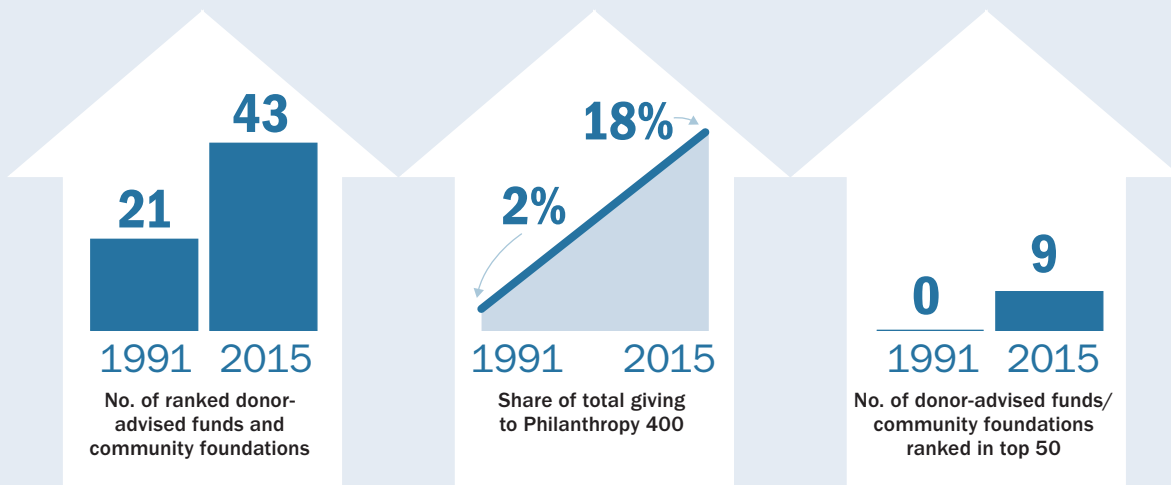

BOTTOM 5

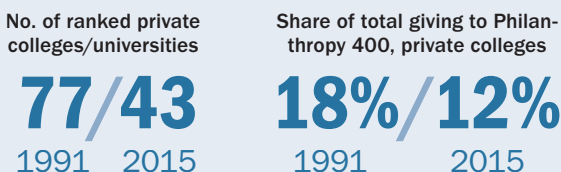

NEW KIDS ON THE BLOCK

Donor-advised funds and community foundations have become a force in charity.

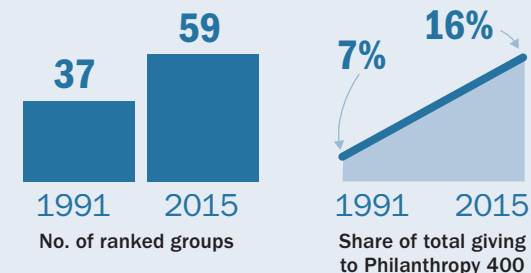

HARVARD'S GREAT, BUT ...

Giving to the Philanthropy 400's private colleges and universities has increased 72 percent since 1991 as their public counterparts posted a 151-percent gain.

VIVA THE INTERNATIONALS!

Global relief and development groups surged over the past 25 years.

HALL OF FAME

Five charities have never ranked lower than 20th in 25 years on the list.

- American Cancer Society
- Catholic Charities USA
- Salvation Army
- The Y
- United Way Worldwide

RISING STARS, STUMBLING GIANTS

Groups on both the 1991 and 2015 rankings that climbed the most—and those that fell the hardest.

